The RFO shall verify the lawful nature of any proposed purchase before the issue of any order, and in the case of new or infrequent purchases or payments, the RFO shall ensure that the statutory authority shall be reported to the meeting at which the order is approved so that the Minutes can record the power being used.

11. CONTRACTS

Otherwise, Regulation 10.3 shall apply.
- j. The council shall not be obliged to accept the lowest or any tender, quote or estimate.

Guidance to Cambridgeshire Parish Councils on Keeping Archives

Introduction

Records are a vital part of your council's business. Your council is required by law to keep certain records, to comply with the Freedom of Information Act 2000 and to comply with current GDPR regulations.

It is important that you look after your records to ensure they can be accessed when needed and that they do not deteriorate over time.

This guidance note offers advice to Cambridgeshire Parish Councils on which records should be kept and for how long, and about how to transfer selected types of records to Cambridgeshire Archives Service when they are no longer needed for regular use by your council.

Looking after your records

Know what you have

It is important that you have a policy and procedure concerning the preservation and security of your records.

- Identify what records your council creates, what form they are kept in, who needs access and how long they need to be kept for
- make a list of your records so you can find the ones you need quickly.

Paper documents

- Paper documents should be stored in a cool, clean, dry and stable environment, and away from direct sunlight

- do not place documents at floor level or where leaking water pipes could cause damage
- avoid using metal clips, rubber bands or adhesive tape - all these will decay over time and cause damage to paper
- try to use good quality acid-free paper for important records that you know will be kept permanently, such as minutes
- store papers in proper storage boxes rather than in plastic bags - plastic bags prevent air circulation and can also give off gases harmful to paper
- keep your store locked
- don't loan or give records out to a third party or someone who is not a Parish Council officer – if someone needs to consult a document, then either provide them with a copy, or supervise them while they consult the document on your premises.

Electronic documents

- Keep them secure (e.g. password protected)
- don't store vital records just on a single USB stick or disk, but create backups and check they can be recovered
- migrate data when you change software and hardware systems so that you can still access older records
- keep important records in PDF format so that their wording cannot easily be changed later.

If you need further information about storing records then please contact CAS. We can visit your organisation and provide professional advice.

Depositing Records

At the end of this guidance note you will find a “retention schedule” for common types of records. Unless a specific period is shown in the schedule, all records should be kept by you until they are of no further administrative use to your council.

When records are of no further use, or if their retention period has expired, then you should either destroy them or transfer them to Cambridgeshire Archives. Where the final action noted in the retention schedule is ‘preserve’ we recommend that the records are deposited with Cambridgeshire Archives as soon as is practical.

We will then preserve them as part of your Parish Council archive. We will store the records in our purpose-built archives accommodation, we will schedule them for cataloguing, and we will make the records available to researchers in our supervised searchroom, subject to GDPR rules.

We run two record offices where original historical documents are made available to the public. These are at Huntingdon Library and Archives, where we store archives relating to the area covered by the historic county of Huntingdonshire, which is largely the same as the modern HDC area; and (from autumn 2019) at Cambridgeshire Archives in Ely, where we store records for all other areas of Cambridgeshire.

If you have material that you think should be deposited with the Archives Service, please telephone us on 01223 699399 (City, South Cambs, East Cambs and Fenland area records) or 01480 372738 (Huntingdonshire area records) to discuss this with our team, or email us at cals@cambridgeshire.gov.uk.

When you bring your records for deposit, you will be asked to complete a deposit form on which the terms of the transfer and issues such as preservation needs and any access restrictions will be recorded. A receipt including our terms of deposit will be given to you later, once CAS staff have itemised the accession.

If you intend to transfer a large series of records then please discuss this with CAS staff before bringing them in.

Copies of records may be supplied to members of the public, on payment of an appropriate charge, for use in private study. Depositors may negotiate restrictions on reproduction.
