District of South Cambridgeshire

Parliamentary Boundaries Review

Council Meeting 20th July 2021

We have received the following from the NALC Chief Executives Bulletin with notification of the proposed Parliamentary Boundaries Review. You can visit the proposed boundaries on the link below. We also had an email from District Councillor Gavin Clayton regarding this, conversation attached below. Please note the consultation ends on the 2nd August 2021.

Parliamentary Boundaries Review

The Boundary Commission for England (BCE) will publish its initial proposals for new Parliamentary constituency boundaries on 8 June and will be seeking local knowledge to help reshape the map. Parliamentary constituencies are changing to make the number of electors in each one more equal, and the number of constituencies in England will increase from 533 to 543. As part of an eight-week consultation process, everyone will be able to view the proposed constituency boundaries and names online and provide feedback. For more information about the 2023 Boundary Review, visit the BCE website, and for key updates follow @BCEReviews on Twitter.

The aspect of the consultation that affects Cambourne Town Council is the fact that there is going to be an additional parliamentary constituency in Cambridgeshire. This will be formed by splitting the Huntingdon and South Cambs constituencies to form a new constituency which at the moment they have suggested is called St Neots CC. Attached to the report are the revised constituencies for Huntingdon, South Cambs and St Neots with Cambourne being part of the new St Neots constituency. Also listed is the breakdown of electors for the wards. They are aiming that the new constituencies should be no smaller than 69,724 and no larger than 77,062, using the figures as at 2nd March 2020.

Email from District Cllr Clayton

Hi John

Looks like Cambourne will not be in South Cambs anymore if Boundary Commission changes are accepted?

What does this mean for Town Council?

Back to situation where SCDC is based in a place that they don't oversee?

I will not be able to attend this evening's mtg as I have a Board Meeting at my work. I will try and pop along after that but depends when it ends.

Regards

Gavin

Response from the Town Clerk

Gavin

Thanks for this it is something that has been highlighted by NALC and SLCC.

South Cambs will be split over at least three constituencies. This has not affected the district boundaries in the past as parts of Huntingdonshire were shared with Fenland.

The greater concern is that the estimated electorate is 74,699 and the max is 77,062 this leaves 2,363 spare electors and the new Constituency has Cambourne West, Bourn Airfield, Northstowe and the large developments at St Neots. These are some of the largest developments in Cambridgeshire

I know they use historic data and have not had a chance to look at the report to see what allowances are made. The report has an electorate of 7,029 and as of 15th October 2020 Cambourne had an electorate of 7,740. This reduces the float to 1,652 without the other growth elsewhere.

It is Recommended that the Town Council respond the review, stating that we understand the necessity for equalising the size of constituencies throughout the Country but are concerned that the new constituency is the home to a large number of sites where there are significant developments taking place in Cambourne West, Bourn Airfield, Northstowe and the large developments at St Neots. This growth is greater than anticipated in other areas and therefore will form an imbalance in representation within the new Parliament formed. The other aspect of the consultation is consideration of the suggested constituency name, the Council should take consideration as to whether they think this is an appropriate name to the new constituency.
