13.2 Email from resident regarding Eco Park gate

To whom it may concern

Not really sure if you can help me.

But I use the echo park a lot once I've picked up my son from pre school at 3pm we have to hang around till 3:30pm for my daughter to finish school.

Anyway my son is autistic and has no awareness of danger therefore he is constantly opening the gate and running off to the road.

I know it's my responsibility to keep an eye on him.

But I'm wondering if there was any chance that a latch or something can be put on the gates so it's not an easy open.

How do I go about requesting this?

And who do I go too?

Subject: Hedgehog Highway Project

Thank you for taking time to read this Email :-)

(Apologies if you have already received it - Some councils in the UK have the same name and it can get a bit confusing! :-))

I would like to tell you about my Hedgehog Highway Project, which over 130 Parishes & Towns are taking part in. Many more are adding it to their next council meeting agendas.

Please read about the project here: Hedgehogs R Us Highway Project - Hedgehogs R Us

The attached letter and the following video should also tell you all that you need to know: https://fb.watch/IT_C0_6pza/

Please would you be so kind as to add it to the agenda of your next meeting?

I really hope you choose to take part as together we can make the whole of the UK hedgehog friendly!

Follow the project on Facebook: Hedgehogs R Us.

Thank You!

Firstly, thank you for taking the time to read this letter!

I am writing to all Councils, Parishes, Towns and Wards in the UK to ask them to take part in this amazing project!

Hedgehogs R Us Highway Project

With Hedgehog numbers in decline and Hedgehog awareness on the rise, there has never been a better time to get involved in Hedgehog conservation.

A Hedgehog Highway is a 5 inch gap in a fence and is essential in the battle to prevent the extinction of our endangered spiky friends. This gap allows them access to forage for food and meet mates.

Hedgehog shaped fence surrounds raise awareness to the plight of Hedgehogs, create a talking point and encourage others to take part in the project. Fence surrounds are made from recycled plastic and can themselves be recycled.

I am asking for each area of the UK to use a small portion of their assigned funds to purchase a box of hedgehog highway surrounds and make them available for their residents.

Each box of 50 is £150 and includes:

- * 50 Hedgehog Highway surrounds & 50 information leaflets
- * A display box & window sticker showing you are part of the project.

Ideas of how to benefit your community include:

- * Donate the Highways and leaflets to your local school to educate in wildlife conservation
- * Swap the Highways for a donation of Hedgehog food which can then be given to your local Hedgehog Rescue Centre

The project will be receiving a lot of publicity in the coming months via Social Media and I really hope that you choose to take part.

My dream is to make the whole of the UK one giant Hedgehog Highway and for that dream to come true, it needs EVERYONE to take part.

Money is donated to Hedgehog Conservation for every box sold too!

If you would like to order or have any questions please do not hesitate to get in touch and thank you for caring.

Quality of Life survey

As part of Cambridgeshire County Council's vision to make Cambridgeshire greener, fairer and more caring, a countywide survey was launched in June - speaking to 5,500 residents to understand their views on the quality of their lives.

The annual survey aims to track the responses over time to see how changes to council decisions and policies, and the work of other public sector bodies in the county, affect views and to give Members vital insight when they make business decisions.

There is still time to complete the survey before it closes on Friday 4 August. Visit the County Council website to find out more.

Innovative Cambridgeshire farm receives seal of approval with Royal visit

An innovative use of a Cambridgeshire farm to increase biodiversity with the support of local developers has been visited by His Royal Highness The Duke of Gloucester.

His Royal Highness, welcomed by the Lord-Lieutenant Julie Spence, also unveiled a plaque at the site marking the farm as part of the 'Queen's Green Canopy', a tree planting initiative created to mark Her Majesty's Platinum Jubilee in 2022.

The Duke took a tour of the 'Biodiversity Net Gain' scheme at Lower Valley Farm, Fulbourn. It has been developed by Cambridgeshire County Council to diversify its farm estate use, mitigate the climate crisis and to encourage businesses to also become part of the solution.

The council has enhanced the landscape at the 140 hectare farm, creating species rich habitats, including woodlands, grasslands and hedgerows. Local developers can become involved by buying biodiversity units to offset the impacts their developments have on the environment.

Businesses can find out more information about the scheme by visiting the Bidwells website.

The scheme, a first for the county, is part of the council's commitment to tackle the depletion of nature in Cambridgeshire and the climate crisis, with the aim to be net zero as an organisation by 2030 and as a county by 2045, five years ahead of national targets.

Moves to support the UK's farming future backed by England's largest landowning Council

As the owner of the largest county farms estate in England and Wales, Cambridgeshire County Council backed a motion to help reverse a farming skills shortage, by supporting pathways into agriculture for young people and those from non-farming families, and calling for greater protection for agricultural workers' rights.

Cambridgeshire County Council's Farms Estate extends to over 33,000 acres of farmland across the county and has more than 160 tenants. In Cambridgeshire, 47% of the population lives in rural communities, a far higher total than the UK average of 17%.

In a cross-party motion put by Cllr Alex Bulat, seconded by Cllr Mark Goldsack, on 18 July, Members supported a move to work with skills providers to increase local vocational training to deal with shortages in the rural workforce.

The council also backed a proposal for its chief executive to write to the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs calling for greater protection of food standards and workers' rights in the agricultural sector.

Full steam ahead for the road surface programme

A large-scale programme to maintain and improve the quality of Cambridgeshire's roads is well underway.

Around £5m is being invested into a programme of surface dressing, which will prevent damage and prolong the life of the county's roads, as well as ensuring they continue to be safe for all road users.

Cambridgeshire County Council's highways team have already treated 39 locations across the county, and more than 50 roads are in the process of being completed.

In addition to this surface dressing programme, a countywide programme of road markings, carriageway and footway resurfacing is also being delivered. As well as ongoing work addressing the roads on peat soils across the county.

Find out more about the locations and types of road surface treatment on our website.

Cambridgeshire's mobile libraries deliver £300,000 of value every year

Economists have found Cambridgeshire's mobile library service produces over £300,000 of value each year for its users.

The three mobile libraries visit 388 locations in 98 villages each month, stopping at care homes, primary schools, playgroups, housing shelters and science parks.

They enable potentially isolated people and those in rural areas to stay connected and independent by borrowing books, CDs, magazines and jigsaws, buying stamps and reading glasses and collecting free walking stick ferrules.

Ready, Set, Read! with the Summer Reading Challenge

This summer children across Cambridgeshire can discover their favourite sporty heroes and unleash the power of play, sport and physical activity all through reading.

The Summer Reading Challenge, ran annually by the Reading Agency, features sports and games themed challenges to keep children's minds and bodies active over the summer break.

The challenge is open to pre-school and primary school aged children and is designed for all reading abilities. They can borrow books of their choice through their local library and attend a programme of fun and interactive free themed activities.

To complete the challenge, children must read six books of their choice by the end of the school summer holidays - for each book they read, they will collect special stickers and for completing the challenge they will receive a certificate and medal.

It is free to take part in the challenge, and children can sign up at their local library or online at The Summer Reading Challenge website. Find your local library here.

Did you know that there are types of fostering that you can do alongside work?

Our foster carers come from all walks of life, and all types of backgrounds. We are keen to support compassionate people who want to foster alongside work in any way we can, as this helps us to keep children and young people local. By staying local, the children and young people in our care can maintain their connections to their schools, their communities, and the people who are important to them.

If you are not sure whether you could become a foster carer because of work, please do not rule yourself out. You could be denying both yourself and a child or young person in care a life-changing experience, and we are here to support you.

Some people worry about the tax implications of working alongside fostering, but since the fostering allowance is not considered an income, any tax paid is minimal.

Different types of foster care that suit different work and lifestyle arrangements include:

- respite care – fostering at weekends and during holidays
- supported lodgings – helping young people develop their independence skills
- time-limited – usually for newly looked after children while their family situation is being assessed
- link care – emergency care, overnight care, or care on a time-limited basis for a child with a disability or complex health need
